The DIMMER VIEW

Spotlight May Embarrass Judges

Many of us in the news profession are disturbed by the end result of our tremendously expensive criminal justice system.

The modern philosophy is to protect the non-guilty who are improperly charged—but few will agree that innocent defendants are being prosecuted.

There is a strong argument that victims—and the public—are suffering more than our fair trial philosophy guarantees. Many feel that criminal justice ideals are being perverted. Soon there may be a move to guarantee victim justice.

At least there is a small move in that direction. Only recently police have been ordered to view victims of rape as true victims. There is to be no more insolent and embarrassing questioning. Today, in most communities in California, a rape victim may testify without being accused of being a hooker.

But what about the multitude of felonious crimes being laid on the public—particularly crimes of violence—where the criminal is turned back to the streets to rob, rape, burglarize and threaten the safety and tranquility of law-abiding citizens?

Who is responsible for criminal-types being released to continue criminal activity?

Are the police culpable? The district attorneys? The courts? Penal authorities?

State Senator Newton R. Russell believes he has the answer. He put his belief into a bill—Senate Bill 195—that would change all of that. He calls it the Judges Open Record Act and it is already in State Legislature.

Before we get to the Bill proper, let's have a little background, as the press is wont to say.

One of the major problems in the operation of the criminal justice system today is that not enough of what goes on in our courts can become public information.

It doesn't matter whether as State Legislature enacts tough sentences if judges find ways to avoid imposing them.

Citizens—law abiding taxpayers—are usually the people who remain in the dark about which judges are tough and which ones are not; which judges tend to coddle criminals and which ones keep the protection of society in mind.

According to Sen. Russell, what people need to know about their judges is whether they consider justice just for the criminal or for all of society.

The means for keeping track of how judges' sentence are very difficult under current law. While jurists must state their reasons in the court minutes when a case is dismissed in the furtherance of justice, there is nothing in the law providing for the opening of those statements to public scrutiny.

In other words, such information is not now available to the press or public by any easy, inexpensive means.

Russell's Bill—SB 195—is entitled the "Judges' Open Record Act." The Russell Bill would require each judge in a felony criminal case to state for the record:

- Why a plea of guilty or nolo contendere has been accepted
- Why an acquittal or finding of guilt has been made.
- Why a certain sentence has been imposed.
- Why a motion for a new trial or acquittal has been granted.

And, when a sentence has been imposed, the statement of reason for that sentence must be accompanied by a list of prior convictions by the defendant.

All required statements shall be transcribed and filed in the records of each case, and a copy of each statement must be filed separately, indexed by the name of the judge and made available for public inspection.

In short, it will de-deify many jurists!

According to Russell, any additional costs stemming from his legislation will be small and enactment of the important concept of SB 195 will be well worth the price. "It is time to let the sun shine in on our criminal court judges and their actions. If you agree, you should let key legislators know before the bill is heard in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sensors on that committee are Chairman Alfred E. Song, Vice Chairman George Deukmejian, Robert G. Beverly, Dennis Carpenter, Milton Marks, Alan Robbins, David A. Roberti, George Zenovich and San Diego's Bob Wilson.

All of these people can be reached at the State Capitol, Sacramento, 95814.

13 cents postage on a letter may be the best investment you can make in protection from that burglar who got into your home last month and who is now out to get you again.

Old Time Days Parade Set For Saturday

Everything is turning up 14's for this Saturday's march of the 14th Annual Old Time Days Parade through the 14th city in San Diego County to be born in 14 years.

Lemon Grove's Old Time Days Parade will form at 11 a.m. Saturday morning at the corner of Citrus and Broadway with 114 units of celebrities, clowns, horses, floats, marching bands, color guards, and treats for all.

The theme of this year's parade is "Kids on Parade" and the route has been marked out for Broadway street to Kempf. At Kempf, the procession will pass Channel 2's television cameras set up at Jack-in-the-Box Restaurant and continue to Lemon Grove Junior High School. There the parade will disperse.

Highlighting this year's parade will be Bob Howell, a well known horseman and the star of past Old Time Days Parades. Howell serves as honorary Grand Marshal and will be riding in the first division.

Also in the first division will be the Old Time Days Parade Grand Marshal, the KGB Chicken.

"I'm really honored the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Committee would select the Chicken to be Grand Marshal of the first Old Time Days Parade in the new city of Lemon Grove," said KGB Chicken, "The first parade the Chicken ever participated in was the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade."

Also riding in the first division will be B-100's "Shotgun" Tom Kelley. Kelley will be riding in Clarence Sheidel's Car.

The Lemon Grove City Councilmen-elect are also leading the 14th Annual Old Time Days Parade. They will be riding in unit 26 with the San Diego Horseless Carriage Club.

Al Bahr Shrine Temple is back with the Oriental Band, Drum and Bugle Corps, clowns, and motorcycles. They will be featured in the third division.

City Council Mulls Swim Pool Request

Lemon Grove's city councilmen, two months away from being able to operate officially, were urged Thursday night to take "advisory action" to help finance a swimming pool at Mt. Miguel High school.

"Advisory action" stems from the fact that the five councilmen are acting in advisory capacity to the county board of supervisors and it was Lemon Grove PLO (Park Land Dedication Organization) money that was being discussed.

PLO money is held in trust when investors develop property in San Diego County. A certain amount for each lot is held until the community decides how the funds are to be utilized. The funds must go for parks and recreation facilities, however.

A strong bid for $25,000 PLO money was made by Robert Sanders, a councillor at Mt. Miguel. He has been active in various projects by which money has been raised privately for the pool. He said that total is now $28,500.

It is expected that Gross-

TOPLESS DANCERS DEMONSTRATE — A two-hour demonstration by a Lemon Grove bar's topless go-go girls group attracted attention last week. The girls, aided by family and friends, carried posters condemning the bar's loss of entertainment license. At one time more than 30 demonstrators walked a circle in the front parking lot of the establishment.

Topless Lemon Grove Bar 'Busted' For No Entertainment License

Topless dancers demonstrated in the front parking lot of the In Spot Wednesday of last week, but no free sample of their professional activity was being shown. It was signs.

The signs they carried complained that the county board of supervisors was unfair to female dancers when the board suspended the bar's entertainment license. The In Spot is at 8290 Broadway in Lemon Grove.

The demonstration lasted more than two hours and attracted attention from many passing motorists who honked as they passed. It is not known whether honking is for or against the demonstrators.

One of the persons on the scene was Mrs. William McClelland, wife of the owner of the In Spot.

"The suspension puts 30 employees out of work, she said. "About 70 people depend on these ladies for income," she added. She was accompanied in the demonstration with her daughter Lori, 3. Three other children of the couple were in school.

Mrs. McClelland, a college graduate (Marquette and Duquesne with a BA in psychology), was in a college doctoral program to become a school psychologist when she and her husband decided to come to California, she said. She said she had an "A" average and was on the dean's list at graduation.

She was arrested and held in jail 8 hours. She said she had never been arrested before and that the last week's arrest was unconstitutional. "I had no right to deny the girls their right to dance," she said. She said she kept records and handled person-

What is a City?

One of a Series

This part of a series from the "HANDBOOK FOR NEW CITY COUNCIL MEMBERS" deals with those the council will employ.

THE CITY MANAGER . . . or other similar title, is the administrative head of city government. He is appointed by the city council to enforce city laws, to direct daily operations of city government, and to prepare and observe the municipal budget.

THE CITY ATTORNEY . . . is usually an appointed officer on either a part-time or full-time basis who is the legal advisor for the council, the city manager, and department heads. He represents the city in any legal action, handles the acquisition or condemnation of property, supervises assessment district proceedings, and prepares all ordinances, contracts, resolutions and opinions.

THE CITY CLERK . . . In most cities the City Clerk is an elected official, but the trend today is to make the position appointive. The City Clerk is charged with the responsibility of maintaining records of council actions and of maintaining a permanent record of all city transactions.

THE CITY TREASURER . . . In most cities the City Treasurer is an elected position, and is responsible for the custody and investment of all city monies. In a few cities this position has been made an appointed position.

BOARDS, COMMISSIONS AND SPECIAL COMMITTEES . . . composed of local citizens are frequently appointed by the city council to advise or perform an administrative function in one or more aspects of city government. Common advisory commissions include parks, recreation and traffic. Commissions commonly administrative in nature include planning, library and civil service commissions.

CITY EMPLOYEES . . . comprise the majority of city government; they perform the day-to-day functions necessary to provide services of the community. Department heads administer specific functions of city government and are responsible to the city manager. Examples of such positions are public works director, planning director, police and fire chief, among others. Miscellaneous employees may or may not be under civil service and may or may not be entitled to pension rights under PERS. Employees have been guaranteed the right of collective bargaining with the city council or its representative, but may not legally strike.

School Problems Compounded By Dixon Bill Panel Notes

By Max Goodwin

"We've got to act together. We've got to come up with some resources."

That, in a nutshell, is what the panel agreed upon when about 40 educators attended a workshop at Lemon Grove's Palm Junior High School Thursday morning to hear a discussion on the delinquency problem of young students.

The problem has grown more acute with the activation at the beginning of the year of the Dixon bill (AB 3121), new legislation which puts many juvenile acts into a gray area of the law — creating a vacuum of responsibility somewhere between parents, schools and juvenile authorities.

The panel was comprised of Drs. William E. Clark and Robert C. Shannon, both guidance coordinators, S.D. County Dept. of Education; Dr. Robert Pyle, principal, Mt. Miguel High School; Stewart C. Fisher, principal, Palm Jr. High School; Jerry Cantrall, juvenile officer, sheriff's department, Lemon Grove office, and Beverly DiGregorio, county probation officer.

The problem is the problem student, Fisher explained. He is disobedient, disruptive and truant. He not only disrupts a class, he can upset the entire school. But we've got to deal with him. We must find alternatives. We've got to make parents more responsible. We must accelerate our programs of bringing these youngsters back into school discipline. We waste taxpayers' money when we let disruptions happen."

The state has mandated alternative programs, Fisher said, but they provide no money. There are opportunity programs available, but no mon-

She asks the members to each bring a flower to be presented at the time of the crowning of the Blessed Virgin statue. At the ceremony, a tape of the "Spring Concert" will be played.

Beach Cleaning Project For Welfare Recipients

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors has adopted a plan to use welfare recipients to clean county beaches.

The plan saves an estimated $7,765 over the original $27,500 clean up plan rejected by the Board last year. At that time the Board directed the County Parks and Recreation Department to revise the plan to make maximum use of welfare recipients to clean the beaches.

The newly adopted plan will cost an estimated $19,735 and uses welfare recipients receiving general relief.

Under a State requirement in the Welfare and Institutions Code persons on general welfare are required to work

Studies Probation

The S.D. County Board of Supervisors has approved the establishment of an ad hoc committee to study and make recommendations to the board on the County Probation Department.

Committees will study a productivity study done on the Probation Department, the impact of budget cuts, the impact of the current hiring freeze and other areas of concern.

The review will be completed prior to adoption of the County's 1977-78 budget to accommodate budget adjustments.

two days a week to receive $120 per month welfare subsidy. The State requirement applies to people who receive general relief. These individuals are not eligible for any other type of State or Federal aid and are usually unemployed single males or females. About 20 general relief recipients are expected to be assigned each week to the beach cleaning program.

In the plan approved by the Supervisors, welfare recipients will be used to rake, cut and load kelp and trash into refuse bins which will then be hauled away by a private contractor.

According to Lloyd Lowery, director of Parks and Recreation, using a private contractor to do the final raking of the beach with a tractor and to haul all the debris away, saves the County an additional $17,500 in equipment costs. If the County did the hauling it would require the purchase of a truck specially equipped to be driven on the beach and a tractor able to lift kelp and dump it into the truck.

The workers will assemble at the Solana Beach Lifeguard Station and will either work there or be transported to the County's four other beaches. The workers will be supervised by County maintenance employees.

The program will run from mid-May to mid-October with crews of workers going out twice a week to clean county beaches.

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Unhappy in husband's hometown

Q. I've been married five years. We are living in my husband's hometown now. At first we were living in my hometown and were doing good, but since we moved here we aren't.

I asked him if we could move back but he didn't want to. I asked why not, and he didn't say anything.

I love him but it's driving me crazy to stay here, because I know his people don't like me. I want to go back to my hometown and stay. If I stay here I believe I will have a nervous breakdown. What shall I do?

A. It may be sort of tough advice, but we suppose you wrote us because you wanted an honest opinion. The thing for you to do is to try to love your husband's family. Could be you have given them the impression... you... don't like them. If you want to keep a good relationship with your husband it is important to try to have a good relationship with his family. It could be that you have not given your husband's relatives a real chance to take you lovingly into the family.

As you make an effort to improve the atmosphere your husband may be willing to talk things over with you. And who knows, he may even get his people to treat you in a more loving manner. And do replace your tense expectation of a nervous breakdown with confidence that you have within yourself the strength to overcome any problem.

We have a booklet, "You Can Overcome Any Problem," which has helped others with questions such as yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone reading this column who wishes a free copy may write for one. Address your request to Dr. and Mrs. Peale, Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Why is there undeserved suffering?

Q. In spite of a strong faith and always trying to do right, I'm a man who has been led into a situation where I have not only lost a part of my body and my sources of income, but my dreams, plans, all my savings and the house I was attempting to build.

A veil has been pulled over my future. Prayers have not been heard. I am cut off and run through. WHY?

If those three letters could be carved in a mountain, Everest-high, in solid granite, they still would not have the thunderous magnitude they deserve. The darkness exists, a terrible darkness that can blow out the light and even life itself. Why? Please help me understand.

A. We get the impression that you are overdramatizing. "A veil . . ."; ". . . cut off and run through"; ". . . Everest-high, in solid granite . . ."; ". . . thunderous magnitude . . ." These are all super-dramatized concepts, though. We must say you do write with picturesque power. Perhaps you should become a writer, with your gifts of expression. Quit asking "why?" Start asking "how." Build that word "how" as high as Everest. No matter what has happened you can make something better happen if you think you can.

Sorry she There's An Answer! column today

Q. Today I'm sorry I read your column in the paper! Very sorry!

The first letter was from a woman who said you always seemed to condemn women when husbands were unfaithful. I could write a book about that. Poor spineless, weak-minded, deprived men. They blame women for all their troubles, mistakes, and take credit for any success.

As for you and all preachers, writers and speakers, you could do us all a greater service if you would put the fear of God in men as well as women. Men's minds, most of them, run to the dirty side most of the time anyway.

There's always too much said about blaming someone else for our mistakes. There comes a time in our lives when we have to reach down and pull ourselves up and be responsible for ourselves. Otherwise we remain immature all our lives. Please do not encourage men's lack of morals!

A. Thank you, ma'am. We like your statement — which is not a question but a statement.

In this column we blame neither men nor women; we blame people, as you say, "for being... spineless... and... weak-minded."

We agree with you that the fear of God should be in men as well as women and we are terribly sorry we have given you the wrong impression.

Dirty-mindedness is not limited to any one sex, though historically man, being considered the more predatory, has been assumed to be more mentally unclean than woman. This could be true. But actually, the sexes being equal, it could very well be that evil is impartial. This column does not encourage lack of morals in anyone, but on the contrary we emphasize traditional Christian moral standards whenever we feel there has been an erosion of the same.

Perhaps you would like to find an answer for yourself to a problem that you can share with others in THERE'S AN ANSWER! If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Grand Marshal Will Walk In Saturday's Parade

"If Jimmy Carter can walk in his parade, I can walk in mine!"

The statement came last Tuesday when the grand Marshal of the 14th Annual Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade, the KGB Chicken, announced he will walk the parade route in this Saturday's march up Broadway ave.

"Do you realize the first parade for the KGB Chicken ever was the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade?" he said, "I have a special place for it.

"I'm really honored that they would select the Chicken as grand marshal for the 14th Annual Old Time Days Parade. I've been in many other parades but none as close to me as this one."

This year's grand marshal began his career some three years ago as a promotional experiment for radio station KGB.

"We started out as sort of a latter day Groucho Marx," the Chicken put it.

Councilmen-Elect to Ride In Saturday's OTD Parade

For the first time ever, Lemon Grove City officials are riding in the Old Time Days Parade.

The city voted for incorporation on March 8.

The councilmen will be seated on July 1 when Lemon Grove has another historic day — the swearing ceremonies.

The ceremony will be at the L.G. Junior High School at 7:30 p.m.

The council is comprised of James Dorman, mayor; Dr. Robert Burns, vice mayor, Doherty, Dell Lake and Pastor Dale Bailey.

All five Lemon Grove City Councilmen-elect will ride with the San Diego Horseless Carriage Club in Saturday's 14th Annual Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade.

Since 1974, the bird's popularity has soared throughout Southern California.

The first parade for the Chicken was the 1974 OTD parade when he was placed behind some horses.

"I remember that parade well," said the grand marshal, "I remember being careful where I walked throughout the parade."

This year the chicken will have a place of prominence at the head of the parade and will not have to worry much about where to step.

"You have everything at parades," he continued, "it brings a lot of different segments of the community together. And this year's parade should be the best of all."

The grand marshal may alternate between riding with Miss Lemon Grove and Miss Spring Valley during the parade, for obvious reasons, and will be available later in the day at the big lemon on the corner of Broadway and Imperial for well wishers.

Pipe Band, Ozzie's Marching Band, the Navy drum and bugle corps, and the Cameron Highlanders' Pipe band.

Parade Will Be Aired Sat. And Sun. Night

Channel 2 will be set up at the corner of Kempf and Broadway streets to do the taping of the 14th Annual Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade.

The television station has planned interviews with the Grand Marshal, KGB Chicken, parade dignitaries, and honorary Grand Marshal Bob Howell. Also, the station will cover the trophy presentations to award winning parade participants.

Telecast of the Old Time Days Parade will be 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday and rerelease is scheduled for 5 to 7 p.m. Sunday.

OTD Square Dance Set For Friday Nite

A round, square, and clog demonstration and dance will kick off the 1977 Lemon Grove Old Time Days Celebration tomorrow night.

The councilmen-elect will also be on hand for the dance held 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at Lemon Grove Junior High School Auditorium.

MC of the dance is Ron East, local expert on the art of clogging. He will demonstrate the dance and then open up the dance floor to the public.

Donations for the dance are $1 and will go for promotion of Old Time Days.

Jack-in-the-Box Restaurant will supply Lemon tarts and Winchell's Donut Shop will donate lemon donuts for the dance.

St. Philip's BBQ

Held After Parade

St. Philip the Apostle Church offers a special treat for after the 14th Annual Old Time Days Parade — the annual post-parade Western BBQ Beef Dinner.

'Stumbles' Moves To Carter Centre

A new American drama, "The Runner Stumbles," concluded a ten-play fortieth anniversary season of the Old Globe Theatre.
The Milan Stitt play then opened a five week run at the Carter Centre Stage, adjacent to the Old Globe Theatre in Balboa Park. Presented on Broadway in New York in 1976, "The Runner Stumbles" was selected among the ten best new American plays last season.
Performances are Tuesday through Sunday evenings at 8 p.m. plus Sunday matinees at 2 p.m. through May 15.
Based on an actual 1911 incident in Michigan, action begins in a jail cell after a priest is arrested for the murder of a nun under his supervision. Their increasingly intimate relationship is told through a series of flash-backs. His compassionate housekeeper attempts to halt the mounting tensions as the drama moves unrelentingly toward tragedy.

Germinating Plants Inside Make Better Gardens Outside

Seeding new plants is just as much a part of the rites of Spring as robins, Easter, and April Showers. Yet there are a few rules that can be followed to insure healthy seedling during this time of year.

The California Department of Agriculture suggest new plants be seeded and allowed to germinate indoors where temperatures can more readily be controlled.

There are two advantages in indoor seeding. One, seeds won't fall prey to birds and insects or washed away by heavy rains. And two, the new plants won't be choked out by weeds.

To begin, vegetable plants should be started six to eight weeks before transplanting. They should be germinated in a warm room 60 to 70 degrees and placed so to receive six hours of indirect sunlight per day.

Potting soil should be in equal parts of garden soil, sphagnum peat moss, and sand. The soil should be sterilized in a 180 degree oven for one-half hour.

Containers can be clay, plastic, metal, or wood but should have holes for drainage.

Clean pots with one part of chlorine bleach to 10 parts water. Sterilize with the soil in the oven.

To plant, fill containers with soil mixture to one inch from the top. Water thoroughly, then add one half inch of vermiculite, sand, or sphagnum peat moss.

Sow seeds one-half inch apart and keep at 60 to 70 degrees, not in direct sunlight.

When the seeds have sprouted, place container near sunny window or under a 40-watt fluorescent light six to eight inches above. Room temperature should be 50 to 65 degrees.

Fertilizer may be added after sprouting to continue growth but as the transplanting date nears, about 10 days prior, gradually withhold water — but don't let plants wilt. Gradually expose them to outside temperatures and direct sunlight by setting them outside for a few hours per day. Avoid fertilizing during this period.

When the new plants are transplanted outdoors, it is advisable to fertilize the soil well with 2 pounds of 5-10-5 fertilizer per 100 square feet of garden area.

If the first two or three days after transplanting are extremely hot, cover the new plants with newspaper "tents" to prevent wilting. If the weather is cold, cover the new plants with hotcaps.

By following these general guidelines, Harwood Hall of the University of California of the cooperative extension proclaims the new plants should do very well.

"All you need," Hall reiterated, "is a disease-free growing medium, proper warmth and moisture for seed germination, adequate light for vigorous growth, and gradual adjustment of the plants from indoors to outdoor conditions to insure healthy, successful transplants."

Broken Leg From Frozen Fowl Battle Tops List of Zany Insurance Claims

The disgruntled butcher shop employee who assaulted his boss with a frozen chicken and after an extended battle found himself with a broken leg won top honors for the most zany claim ever filed with the Hartford, Conn., based Aetna Life and Casualty Insurance Company.

According to the claim filed with the company, the employee, disgruntled, assaulted his boss with a frozen fowl. The boss returned with a few choice chops back with a frozen pullet. A battle ensued and the employee found himself with a broken leg after stumbling over a frozen rooster.

Other claims in the running from the more than 20 million handled by the company in 1976 were:

—the modern day Minute-man whose Bicentennial zeal overcame him during a reenactment of the Battle of Bunker Hill and he rammed his bayonet into a Redcoat's rump. The Redcoat filed a claim.

—The Chattanooga, Tenn., gas station owner who filed a claim after a man drove into his station to take advantage of a "free car wash with fill-up". The patron topped his tank with an 89 cent purchase and pulled into the car wash. The owner confronted him for purchase, an argument erupted, and the station owner closed the car wash doors on the man until payment. The man drove through the doors.

—A New Jersey man, after lunch in his car, removed his dentures. A heavy sneeze seized him, the dentures flew out the window and, as the wayward choppers bit the dust, a passing vehicle squashed them. He filed a claim for new teeth.

—A San Francisco motorist filed a claim after his very expensive water bumper equipped luxury car had been broadsided in a parking lot.

AUCTION of PERSIAN RUGS and other Oriental Rugs

HOLIDAY INN
595 Hotel Circle South
Off Interstate 8
San Diego, Calif.

SUNDAY, MAY 1 2:00 p.m.
VIEWING AT 1:00 p.m.

Note about this auction:
Iran, the largest producer of handwoven carpets, and rugs has been a backward, slow-moving country for centuries. Suddenly with the advent of industry, oil and free education, it zoomed to the 20th Century. As a result the children who were the majority of the weavers, were lured away from the ancient art of weaving. In our opinion, this great art will soon be lost & so scarce that today European collector's and dealers are rushing to America to collect these beautiful carpets.

A beautiful collection of genuine handwoven Persian and Oriental Rugs is being offered at auction to the highest bidder. Included are KERMAN, KASHANS, ARDEBIL, AFGHAN, BOKHARA, TABRIZ, BELOUCH, AFSHAR, QUME INDIAN, and many other collector's pieces.

ORIENTAL RUGS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY AS DOOR PRIZES.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

Bettin' folks are a breed apart. Some gamblers can't handle the gaff and fall by the wayside. Bettin', for them, is almost fatal.

But, like drinkin' beer, laying down a bet for most folks is as natural as breathing. Look around. Have you ever seen a golf ball ridin' the air waves without a little something on the side?

Of course not. Even playing the game is a gamble. You might get hit in the head or lose a ball at any time. And if you luck out with a hole-in-one, you gotta buy everybody in the club house bar a drink.

And golf is a social game. There are other sportin' folks who like a little more action. Like card players or horse pickers.

'Tis said a horse player will crawl over yards of broken glass on his hands and knees in a snow storm to get down his bet. Hearty folks, these.

And believers, too. There is one guy who crosses memory that would bust his butt to get down a bet on anything early in the morning. He'd bet if the sun would come up, if a cop was whistling, while crossing a certain corner walking his beat, or if the milk-man's horse would be wearing a hat.

He lost almost every early morning bet he ever made. I once asked him why he made such silly wagers, but he claimed none of them were impossible or silly.

"It's important to win a tough bet early in the morning," he claimed. "That way you find out if you're walking around lucky and you don't waste time non-bettin' during the day."

Now, a gamblin' man would understand that philosophy. And a pretty gal making her way in the tough business world in our town had that thinkin' figured out, too.

She takes card players, dice throwers, and numbers players to Las Vegas each week for eight hours of fun and frolic.

The trip is free. The gambling you pay for yourself. Shelly Stapanek is a pretty looking gal with a sharp mind and a fearless outlook. She spent most of her 28 years growing up in Iowa City, Iowa, but left when she decided there was more to the world than Iowa country-side.

She moved to Atlanta, Georgia to test southern hospitality, then tried Mexico City. She toured by back-pack through Europe one summer and settled in San Diego because she figured this was the best place on earth to live. Which goes to show how smart she really is.

She got a job being a lady cop and starting buying old houses and fixing them up. She did the plumbing, electric, cement and carpentry work, and the painting. The little she couldn't do, she hired done, then she sells the place and buys another.

Shelly came across some hot blooded gamblers while working in security at Del Mar and took a job heading a flight of hopefuls to Vegas for some serious betting. The company didn't last, but Shelly proved to be made of more substantial stuff.

When the job faded, Shelly went into busines for herself. She contacted casinos in Las Vegas and established a business, if not a career.

"I call it Casino Tours," smiled Shelley in her pet-est way. "We fly to Las Vegas each week and we are limited to $5 players. The flight is free both ways but you have to bet your own money."

According to Shelly, some folks make the trip every week, some go once a month and one couple makes the trip once a year on their wedding anniversary.

"Our biggest loss was $20,000 and our biggest win was more than $35,000, all in eight hours," she laughed. "The strangest trip was a group of Chinese. Most of them couldn't speak English and I couldn't get them away from the tables when our time was up."

Shelly doesn't gamble. She just makes a living from it. Which kind of tells you what this story is all about. But I wouldn't bet on it.

Mc Intyre Takes Stock Race Third Among All-time Winners

Four-time super stock car king Pat McIntyre moved into a two-way tie for third on the all-time main event victory last Saturday night as he posted his 28th feature triumph before another big crowd of 5,072 at Cajon Speedway.

The Spring Valley building contractor slipped into the lead on the 24th lap and went on to take the 40-lapper by half a straightway ahead of runner-up Lanny Pemberton of Lemon Grove.

George Esau of San Diego, who set the race for 20 laps, was third, finishing in front of his youngest son, Ron. McIntyre, who said his engine this year has 70 more horsepower, has pulled into a tie with retired Dick Guest on the all-time list. Russ Bullen and Jim Hitt, also retired, are ahead of McIntyre with 32 and 31 main event wins, respectively.

McIntyre received the major share of a $4,888 purse.

Holly Stahl drove brother Mark's Ford Granada to victory in the 1st Powder Puff of the season and headed off fast charging '76 champ Barbara Baxter of El Cajon.

Saturday night for the third meeting of the swift cars. Time trials begin at 6:30 for some 55 machines while the four-lap trophy dash is set for an 8 p.m. start.

And, as a big added attraction, the first slam-bang destruction derby will follow the program.

For two straight shows, the attendance has gone over the

Padres-L.A. Series Close Mets Due Fri. for Three

The San Diego Padres will be marking the move into the middle portion of their current homestand by switching to action against the National League's Eastern Division for the first time this season.

San Diego, presently engaged in the club's longest homestand of the season which is running for 15 games from April 25-May 8, will be completing a four-game series with the L.A. Dodgers tonight and then jumping into play against the East.

First up for the Padres will be the pitching-strong New York Mets who will be in town for three games, Friday through Sunday. The opening two games will get underway at 7 p.m. while the series finale on Sunday is scheduled for 1 p.m.

Following the Mets in will be the defending Eastern Division champions, the Philadelphia Phillies. The Quaker City club will be around for four games from Monday through Thursday, May 2-5. All of the these contests are slated for 7 p.m. starts at San Diego Stadium.

Rounding out the entire homestand will be four games in three days with the Montreal Expos, May 6-8. The Padres and Expos will play single games the first two days and then conclude the series and homestand with a 1 p.m. doubleheader on May 8.

"You always hear a lot about the home field advantage and there's certainly some very valid points connected with this line of thinking," said Manager John McNamara. "In our case I feel it's a distinct advantage for us to get our first looks at New York and Philadelphia, in particular, at home. Since this is our first meeting of the year and we didn't see them in spring training, playing at home the first time around should give us that little added edge."

"New York appears to be as strong as ever in the pitching department what with Tom Seaver off to a good start," continued San Diego's fourth year mentor. "Pitching has long been a strong suit of the Mets and it looks

Free Baseballs, KGB Fireworks At S.D. Stadium

A spectacular fireworks and light show produced by local radio station GB will be the highlight promotional attraction when the San Diego Padres open up a three-game series with the New York Mets on Friday.

The program will follow the Padres-Mets clash and promises to be truly unique as the station has planned to coordinate the festivities with a 30 minute program over KGB AM and FM so fans are encouraged to bring along their radios and tune in for the full effect of the program.

Also on tap this same evening will be School Patrol Night with youngsters involved in the school safety patrol program attending the game as the special guests of the San Diego Padres and, as an extra added attraction, the San Diego "P.D.5" Band will be on hand to provide pregame entertainment.

Let's Dine Out Ball Night
One of the more popular attractions on the San Diego Padres promotional schedule will be on Saturday in the form of Let's Dine Out Ball Night when the Padres meet the New York Mets in the second of a three-game series.

The first 20,000 youngsters 14 years of age and under will be receiving a free Padre souvenir baseball with the compliments of the Let's Dine Out Co. The event annually attracts one of the better young crowds of the season.

like 1977 will be no different from any of the past few seasons.

"The real puzzle so far has been the Phillies, but, like the situation with Cincinnati in our own division, you know it's only a matter of time before everything clicks and the club comes together as a whole," McNamara explained. "Philadelphia hasn't been playing that well in the early going, but you know the pitching and hitting is there so you have to hope they don't find the range here against us."

S.V. Park & Rec Schedule Offers Diverse Activity

An unstructured league of softball play under the sponsorship of the S.V. Park & Rec. Dist. starts May 11 at the S.V. Little League fields, on Sweetwater ln. just off Jamacha rd. in Spring Valley.

The group will play a different team each week and will receive a little instruction each time. The affair is for fun and fellowship and there is no charge. Call 460-2033 to enroll.

Other SVP&R Dist. activities include a Tiny-Tots Preschool program for children 4½ years of age. The class meets each Tuesday and Thursday 2:30-4 p.m. in the SV Rec. office. Class include crafts, educational games, story-telling and outdoor games. District residents only are eligible.

Tap and Jazz dance classes, tumbling, and arts and crafts are being scheduled and Mt. Miguel High School gymnasium is now open for basketball play Wednesdays and Thursdays 6:30-9:30 p.m.

Griffin Golfers Hold Second Place

Coach Dick McMinn's golf team has a chance to finish second place in the South Coast Conference this season, of the Griffins can do well in the conference tournament May 2 at Palm Desert.

The Grossmont College Griffin moved into a second place tie with Mt. San Antonio College last week by placing second in the Mesa Tournament at Torrey Pines. Grossmont recorded a team score of 463 at the Mesa affair to finish three strokes behind SCC-leading Santa Ana. Mark Wade led the way with an even-par 72.

Since the conference tournament counts double in the team scoring, the Griffins have a chance to grab the No. 2 position in the standings.

Joker, Aces Face Mt. Miguel Faculty

The Kip Hayes Trust Fund will benefit from an odd softball game Saturday at Helix High school baseball field.

The "Joker and 3 Aces" — a 4 man team — will meet a 9 man team made up of Mt. Miguel High school faculty members.

Hayes was injured in a football game last year and is still hospitalized.

The short-manned team is made up of TV Ch. 10's Harold Green at first; former big leaguer Bill Tineup, Danny and Mike Millsap, father and son battery.

A girls' softball game starts at 7 p.m. with the men's team up at 8:30 p.m.

Top Coaches Due For Hoop Clinic

Three coaches who have been household words in college basketball will headline the third annual Medalist Basketball clinic at San Diego's Town and Country Hotel — the 1977 NCAA winner Al McGuire (Marquette); the 1976 winner Bobby Knight (Indiana) and the "Wizard of Westwood", ten time NCAA Champion before retirement, John Wooden (UCLA).

The sessions are set Friday through Sunday, May 13-15. More than 600 coaches are expected to attend.

The eight man staff also includes Hubie Brown (Atlanta Hawks) reputed by Basketball Weekly as "probably the best coach in the pros", Gary Colson (Pepperdine), Marquette assistant Rick Majerus, Ed Goorjian (Crescenta Valley H.S.), plus George Lehmann, ten year ABA/NBA veteran who was featured in the Pizza Hut Classic half time telecast, teaching the fundamentals of shooting.

The clinic is open to all coaching levels, high school, junior high and little league.

Registration fees are $25 advance and $30 at the door.

Registration information is available by calling toll free: 1-800-558-9858.

Wardrop Leads IVA In Two Categories

LOS ANGELES — Bill Wardrop of the San Diego Breakers has often been called the most dominating blocker in volleyball in the United States. And rightfully so.

Official statistics released last week by the International Volleyball Association confirmed that Wardrop was the only player in 1976 to lead the IVA in two categories — stuff blocks and kills. He had 254 stuff blocks in 40 matches plus 806 kills.

A stuff block is a defensive maneuver defined as stopping a spike and putting it on the floor on the other side of the net. A kill is an attacking shot that is not returned by the opposing team. It could be a spike, hitting the ball downward with great force, or a dink. A dink is a soft tip shot which catches the opposition off balance and hits the floor before they can recover.

Wardrop also finished second in attacking attempts, fourth in attacking efficiency. Coincidentally, Wardrop's team benefitted from his presence by going all the way in the playoffs.

"Success in stuff blocking," said Wardrop, "depends on your team's blocking style just like in basketball where your defenses depend on whether you're in a zone or a man-to-man. We play a pretty rigid zone blocking defense. The spike would have to be hit around the block. We stationed our defense in areas not covered by the block. In other words, we did not concern ourselves with covering the area directly behind the blocker."

The personable Wardrop, a blond musclemans at 6-6, recently was named player-coach of the Breakers for the 1977 season.

Jon Roberts, who has signed with Orange County for 1977, is the defending attacking champion. The 24-year-old middle blocker had 670 kills in 1,468 attempts, a .456 average.

Tom Read, El-Paso/Juarez's new player-coach, led in attacking efficiency at .357, compiled by a formula involving attempts, kills, and errors (hitting the ball into the net or out of bounds).

Jay Hanseth, who's with San Diego now, led in attacking attempts. Brazil's Lino de Melo Gama, now with El Paso/Juarez led in assists, ceiving. Jose Lopes of El Paso/Juarez led in assists, John Herron of Phoenix in serving aces, and All-Star Linda Fernandez, back with Santa Barbara, in digs (saving the ball before it hits the floor.)

Mariners Lose in Playoffs ... But it Took Seven Games

By Bruce Binkowski
As playoff series go, the best-of-the-7 semi-final round featuring the Mariners and the Winnipeg Jets probably rank as one of the most exciting playoff rounds local hockey fans have ever seen.

The Jets finally defeated the Mariners in 7 games in a series that many of the "experts" predicted would go five, and with luck six contests. But the Mariners, a "never say die" outfit since arriving in the WHA three years ago, kept the series in doubt until the seventh and final game.

Solid goaltending by Ernie Wakely and Ken Lockett, containment of the Hull-Hedberg-Nilsson line by Joe Norris, Kevin Devine and Don Burgess (the checking line), solid defensive play and timely goal scoring kept the series nip-and-tuck throughout the seven games.

In the end, it all boiled down to the home ice advantage and the goaltending of Winnipeg netminder Joe Daley. In the four regular season games played in Winnipeg and the four playoff games, the Jets compiled an 8-0 record over the Mariners. On Sports Arena ice, San Diego was victorious in the 4 regular season games and the 3 playoff contests for a 7-0 mark.

Daley, a veteran goalie, was in goal for all 15 games played during the regular season and the playoffs and he provided the margin of difference on Jet ice.

Winnipeg moves on to the finals of the Western Division against the Houston Aeros with the winner of that series

Playoffs Friday For Chargerettes

Registration for finals, selected after tryouts, will begin at 6 p.m. Competition will get under way at 6:30. The public is invited; no-host cocktails will be served.

The selection committee will include Cathy Rigby Mason, former Olympic gymnast and wife of Chargers' radio game analyst Tommy Mason; KCBQ disc jockeys Charlie and Harigan; Carol Slavin, fashion coordinator for Hang Ten, designer of the uniforms, and Tank Younger, Chargers' assistant general manager.

Chargers Signed
KSDO radio (1130) and the San Diego Chargers announced that the station will carry Chargers games through the 1979 season. The agreement represents the continuance of a relationship that began when KSDO purchased rights to Charger games in 1974.

"The Chargers are pleased to extend this association," said assistant general manager Tank Younger. "KSDO has become identified as the Chargers station."

Steve Jacobs, general manager of KSDO, San Diego's top-rated radio station, said, "The Chargers represent an investment in the future of the station and the city's sports picture. We look forward to being with the Chargers for a long time."

Neighbor Thwarts Stereo Burglar

A white male transient, 18, was arrested by sheriff's deputies April 14 on San Miguel st., Lemon Grove after Robert Earl Emmert, 3224 1/2 Massachusetts, saw him carrying a turntable from a neighbor's residence.

Emmert accosted the suspect who placed the equipment on the ground and fled by jumping down an embankment to London lane. Emmert's wife called the sheriff and the suspect was located running down San Miguel.

Martha Bello, 6885 Central ave., saw the suspect hide in bushes nearby, attracted the deputy's attention and pointed to the hiding place. Emmert identified him.

The man was listed as Gregory Frank Salva, 18, address unknown.

taking on the winner of the Indianapolis/Quebec Eastern Division championships. Currently, the Nordiques hold a 2-0 series lead.

Perennial favorite John Featherstone will be back for another game at wide receiver as well as popular receiver Darold Nogle. Last year's varsity quarterback Tom Craft will also play.

The varsity should come into the game on a high note. Gilbert's crew had a good scrimmage last week. Freshman quarterback Mark Halda started and completed 11 of 19 passes for 57 yards and had two balls dropped. Joe Davis hit 9 of 11 passes for 141 yards and had one intercepted. His longest effort was a 47 yarder to Dennis Pearson.

Chris Schafer and Greg Roeszler, the two new quarterbacks, were two of three for 54 yards and two of four for 7 yards respectively. Both threw interceptions. Schafer's long heave was 39 yards to Bill Spooner while Roeszler hit Greg Erke for 28 yards and Pearson for 45.

Bink Benton was the top rusher with 29 carries for 80 yards and three touchdowns. Defensively, linebacker Ricky Orange picked off two passes and Ron Morehouse one. Inside linebacker Whip Walton was also very impressive with seven tackles while linebacker James Lamar had five.

Defensive back Terrell Ward had six tackles while Ken Mathis racked up four.

Returnable Bottles Would Save Energy CALPIRG Group Says

The California Public Interest Research Group (CALPIRG) will support SB 4, the bottle bill for California, after a CALPIRG survey indicated that returnable bottles are by far the cheapest.

The bill, now being considered in the State Senate and soon to be voted on in the Senate's Finance Committee, would require that every beverage container sold in California have a deposit of no more than 5 cents and be returnable for reuse or recycling.

Results of the survey showed that the average family would save $170 a year by buying sodas in returnables. A returnable bottle system would also require less energy. Energy saved by recycling would be equivalent to 250 million gallons of gasoline a year. In addition, the 1.3 million tons of raw materials used by the beverage container industry would be cut in half.

Recycling and returning bottles will also result in job increases, a CALPIRG spokesman said. More people will be needed for washing, trucking, handling, recycling and stacking the containers.

Measles Vaccinations Underway at Valley Schools

Heavier than normal outbreaks of red measles in the Spring Valley area has prompted the San Diego County Department of Public Health to offer special measles immunization clinics at schools in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

Parents are being urged to make sure their children have been immunized against the measles if:

—a child has never been immunized

—a children received measles immunization prior to one year of age

—and if a child was immunized prior to 1968. Vaccines used then were "killed virus" vaccines and are no longer effective.

La Mesa-Spring Valley
School District Nurse Mrs.
Lillian Olson said the killed virus immunization "did not immunize completely" and children should be re-vaccinated with live virus.

She added added many parents confuse the red or ten day measles with German measles and assume their children have had all varieties when in fact they have had only one.

Major differences between the symptoms of the Red Measles and the German variety are:

—Red Measles cause fever,
reddened eyes, cold symptoms, little white spots in the inside of the mouth, after the fourth day the fever breaks out in a blochy red rash, and the sickness usually last for about ten days.

—German Measles, on the other hand, has as symptoms headache, cold symptoms, fever, a finer rash, and swollen lymph nodes in the back of the neck. The swelling of the lymph nodes are the singly most identifying characteristic of the disease.

Clinics have been set up for tomorrow at Rancho Elementary, Avondale Elm., and Spring Valley Elm. schools for the immunization of children ages 15 months and above.
Immunization units will be available:

—At Rancho Elementary—
8 to 9:30 a.m.
—At Avondale Elementary
—10 to 11:15 a.m.
—And at Spring Valley Elementary — 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Immunizations are also given in Spring Valley the second Wednesday of each month from 1:30 p.m. at the Bancroft Elementary School, 8805
Tyler street.

(School Problems Cont.)

Fisher said that curriculum re-evaluation would be needed to accommodate the problems. Some approaches might be the Home Instruction concept where the parent would be required to administer 240 minutes of academic study a day to their disruptive child on a contract basis. The district would get credit for ADA (average daily attendance) funds and the youngster would have something better than he has now.

The Dixon bill is called an educational alternative because it all but removes police from handling runaways, incurable and truant youngsters from the juvenile justice system. Parents have by that point shown that they cannot handle the youngsters and the school becomes the last resort.

"We've got to develop means of teaching them responsibility and self-esteem.
We've got to teach them to deal with everyday problems," Fisher said.

The representatives from the County Dept. of Education acknowledged that the problem exists. Dr. Shannon of the School Attendance Review Board (SARB) but said the Dixon bill recognizes a situation that has long existed. Interestingly, he said, the dropout rate has improved from 33 to 20 percent but absenteeism has grown alarmingly.

Dr. Pyle asked the audience,
"How far does the community want us to go in caring for these students whose parents have neglected their responsibility?"
Deputy Contrall noted that the Dixon bill had removed "status offenders" from the juvenile court system. (Status offenses would not be offenses if adults performed them). That means that such actions are no longer correctible by police. "When parents report their youngsters beyond control, I can only tell them that they are legally and financially responsible for the child until a criminal act is committed. We can't handle them until they become classic criminals."

Police Are Judges
Contrall noted that a juvenile "diversion program," recently put more responsibility on juvenile officers. "We are instructed to divert as many youngsters as possible away from juvenile detention centers. We make judgments previously made by court officers."

The new philosophy, obviously, is to put youngsters in custody of their parents and make the parents more responsible.

Probation Officer Di Gregorio said that the juvenile court played a parental role when she joined the department 17 years before.

"Now, as juvenile crimes become more serious, the court has assumed an adversary role and appears to have become more of a criminal court."

The panel agreed that the problem was not going to go away by itself.
Fisher said the school board and administration were "very supportive" of programs that may work. "But there is a funding problem," he said.
"But at least, the problem is now out in the open."

If a direction is indicated it
